The insured value corresponds to the expenses for the restoration of the object affected by the loss and consists of the material costs and a hourly remuneration for the restoration or, in case of a total loss: the reproduction of the work. A daily rate of EUR 2000 or an hourly rate of EUR 300 will be granted. In no event shall the indemnity exceed the insured value or the sum insured or the policy maximum, unless otherwise agreed.

5. Insured costs

The insurance covers incurred costs to assess the damage (incl. costs for experts and appraisers) as well as all absolutely necessary costs incurred as a result of the loss and confirmed by the Insurer, up to a total of 10% of the policy maximum, up to a maximum of EUR 100,000, e.g.

6. Waiver of subrogation

The Insurer agrees to waive all rights of subrogation against the Lender, Borrower (if they are not the Insured) and all qualified and professional packers, shippers and carriers, except in cases of gross negligence and wilful misconduct.

1. Safety regulations

During the insurance period the Insureds are obliged to exercise due care and, in particular, to take the measures required under the circumstances to protect the insured property against the insured risks. The Insureds must observe and comply with all statutory, official and agreed safety and fire protection regulations.

The protective measures and security arrangements at the risk location provided to the Insurer upon conclusion of the contract and defined as policy components must be maintained and in effect throughout the term of the contract.

All risk locations and other locations where the objects are insured or need to be insured on a declaration basis must be suitable for the storage of the insured objects and well protected against burglary. If the sum insured exceeds EUR 1,000,000 (also at external exhibitions and locations), a burglar alarm system is mandatory. If there is no burglar alarm system at any risk location, the maximum compensation for burglary is limited to EUR 1,000,000. From a sum insured of EUR 5,000,000, a fire/smoke alarm system planned and produced by specialist firm is obligatory as a voluntary installation, unless it is already prescribed by fire protection regulations.

Security of single items

The insured objects must be secured against easy removal (e.g. by anchoring them to the wall with screws).

Supervision during opening hours

During the opening hours the exhibition rooms are to be supervised.

Exhibition/Presentation of small-format works

Small-format works, fragile, three-dimensional objects, historical jewellery and items similar to jewellery must be exhibited in closed containers, locked boxes or display cases designed for this purpose. Small-format works that are suspended/hung at the wall must be additionally secured against easy removal (e.g. by fixing them to the wall with additional screws).

Mechanical safety measures

During the period in which no one is in the insured building, in the insured premises or on the insured property, the existing optimal mechanical safety devices must be used according to their provisions, i.e. all doors, windows and other openings must be kept properly closed. If the safety devices are changed, this must be reported to the Insurer.

Electronic safeguards

a. Burglar alarm system with connection to a security service/police

During the period in which nobody is in the insured building, in the insured premises and on the insured property, the burglar alarm system must be activated properly. The burglar alarm system must be kept in a usable condition and must be serviced regularly, at least once a year, by a recognized specialist company.

2. Fire/smoke detection system

During the period during which no one is in the insured building, the insured premises or on the insured property, the fire/smoke alarm system must be properly activated. Every fire alarm system must correspond to the state of the art and be designed, dimensioned, constructed and maintained in such a way that it is effective and ready for operation at all times. Maintenance work on the fire alarm system must be carried out in accordance with the state of the art. The specified maintenance intervals must be observed and carried out by specialist company.

A failure or malfunction of the safety devices must be remedied immediately and an equivalent level of safety has to be ensured in the meantime. In addition, the failure of the safety devices must be reported to the Insurer immediately in writing.

Storage

The storage (internal and external) of insured objects must take place at locations suitable for this purpose in terms of security, personnel and equipment and climatic conditions. The objects are not to be stored under water-bearing pipes/heating pipes where possible.

Requirements are:

- for underground storage, a minimum distance of 14 cm from the ground must be maintained

- from an insured sum or maximum sum insured/sublimit of EUR 1,000,000 per location, additionally
- a locking system with access authorisation and access documentation;
- climate control and logging; from a sum insured of EUR 10,000,000 additionally a stable full air conditioning.

Permanent storage must be carried out in static storage areas, not in transshipment warehouses. The objects should, if possible, be stored in the protective packaging if there are no climatic concerns.

Transports

The Policyholder shall comply with the “RECOMMENDED PRACTICES FOR FINE ART TRANSPORTATION & HANDLING” as per section D.

The insured objects must not be in a condition unsuitable for the journey.

The packed art objects must be sufficiently secured against movement by straps and/or cushioning in the transport vehicle.

In the case of stopovers during self-conducted transports by the Insured, insurance coverage shall only exist if the vehicle is permanently supervised by the Insured or by a person commissioned by the Insured. Otherwise the insured art objects must be removed from the vehicle and deposited in a sufficiently secured place.

For transports, the following measures must be taken in particular:

- for externally visible damage, a written reservation must be made to the shipper/carrier before the objects are accepted. The shipping company (post office, airline, railway, etc.) must immediately request a statement of facts.

In the case of externally undetectable and (presumed) damage, which supposedly occurred during shipment, the necessary reservations must be made legally valid within the statutory and contractual periods. In both that case, the carrier must be held immediately liable in writing.

2. Malfunction of safety equipment / Elimination of a dangerous condition

The Policyholder is obliged to eliminate at his own expense a dangerous condition that could lead to a loss. A failure or malfunction of the protective measures and security arrangements shall be remedied immediately and equivalent safety shall be provided in the meantime. In addition, the failure of the protective measures and security arrangements shall be reported to the Insurer immediately in writing.

If such a condition is not remedied within a reasonable period of time agreed with the Insurer, despite the Insurer's request to do so, the insurance cover shall not longer apply after the expiration of the time agreed.

3. Declaration of risk and changes in risk

The Policyholder shall inform the Insurer of all the circumstances about which the Insurer enquired it in the offer form or prior to the execution of the Policy in other communications. In the event that the Insurer should execute the Policy without its questions being answered, the circumstances so ignored will be deemed insignificant. If the Policyholder executes this Policy through a representative, such an obligation will rest also with the representative and will also cover the circumstances known thereto.

The Insurer shall not be liable for the consequences of any circumstances about which the Policyholder did not inform it in breach of the obligation referred to above. For the avoidance of doubt, if the Policyholder defaults on its obligation through wilful misconduct, the indemnifiable accident under the Policy and the consequences thereof will be presumed the result of such circumstances. If the Policy is executed for the account of a third party, the obligations referred to above will rest both with the Policyholder and other Insured, unless the Insured was not aware of the Policy having been executed for its account.

If a change to a fact that is material to the assessment of the risk occurs during the term of the contract, the extent of which was determined by the parties when answering the Insurer's questions when concluding the contract (and/or questionnaire

"Application Questions/duty to notify"), the Policyholder shall notify the Insurer without delay in writing of this; for example, if construction work is carried out in the rooms, gardens, outdoor facilities, garages or outbuildings or in the event of failure of security equipment and measures.

In the case of the disclosure of facts which result in an essential change to the probability of the occurrence of the accident, each of the parties may demand a corresponding change to the amount of premium beginning with the time at which that fact occurred, but not earlier than from the beginning of the current period of insurance. Where one party files such demand, the other party may terminate the contract by a notice having immediate effect within a fourteen-day period.

4. Multiple insurance

The Policyholder is obliged to report multiple insurance to the Insurer in writing as soon as he becomes aware of it. In the event of multiple insurance, the Insured shall not demand a benefit exceeding the value of the damage.

In the event of multiple insurance this Policy constitutes the excess over the other enforceable insurance policy, unless such other enforceable insurance contract explicitly says that it is the excess insurance policy.

5. Intentional or gross negligence breach of obligations/warranties

If the Insured intentionally or due to gross negligence breaches the contractually agreed conditions, contractual or statutory security provisions or other collateral duties (duties), the compensation may be reduced to the extent that the occurrence or extent of an insured loss was influenced thereby.

In the event of infringement of contractually agreed obligations, contractual or legal security provisions or the general collateral duties contained in this section or other contractually agreed duties and procedural obligations, which can have an influence on the occurrence of the insurance event or the scope of the benefit due from the Insurer, the agreed legal disadvantage shall not occur if:

- the infringement is to be regarded as non-culpable under the circumstances; or
- the infringement had no influence on the occurrence of the feared event and the scope of the benefit due from the Insurer.

No claims can be made under this policy that have not occurred during the policy period. If this policy is cancelled, terminated, the Insured has 30 days to record and report any losses that occurred during the policy period.

1. Reporting, assessment and processing of claims; obligations in case of a claim

When an event occurs, the Policyholder shall comply with the following obligations/subsidiary obligations to ascertain the loss, mitigate the loss or safeguard rights of recourse:

- After the occurrence of an event, the consequences of which may affect the insurance, the Insured must notify the Insurer without undue delay at szkody@chubb.com.
- The Insured must do everything in its power to minimise the loss after occurrence of the insurance event. If there is no imminent danger, it must obtain and follow the instructions of the Insurer about the measures to be taken.

In the event of theft, including burglary, robbery and loss and/or other criminal acts, the Insured shall notify the police immediately, request an official investigation and not remove or alter the evidence of the crime without the consent of the police. Furthermore, a list of the objects in question must be submitted to the police and the Insurer without delay. A police report must be requested by the Insured.

- Before the damage has been determined, the Insured may not, without the Insurer's consent, make any alteration to the damaged property that could impede or frustrate the determination of the cause of the damage or the loss, unless the alteration appears necessary for the purpose of mitigating the loss or is in the public interest.
- The Insured must, at the request of the Insurer, provide complete and truthful information on such facts known to it which can be used to determine the circumstances under which the loss event occurred or to ascertain the consequences of the damage as well as with regard to the damaged or lost objects.

It shall provide relevant proof and documents such as insurance certificates, confirmations of value (where necessary), transport documents, police reports (if necessary, where a criminal offence has been committed) or other reports, whereby the required damage documents may also be submitted in copy.

If the damage occurred during land, sea, air or courier express or other parcel service shipment, a statement of facts must be submitted by the shipping company concerned.

It shall allow the Insurer or its agent to inspect the damaged objects at any time.

2. Claims settlement/Basis for calculation of the indemnity/Indemnity

Calculation basis of the compensation	Indemnity
Partial loss	The Insurer pays the necessary recovery, i. e. repair or restoration costs, up to the agreed sum insured for the object affected by the damage and/or the corresponding parts, maximum the agreed sum insured. In addition, the Insurer shall compensate any possibly remaining depreciation for the object affected by the damage after the restoration has been carried out. By agreement with the Insurer, the costs of restoration to the state before the damage (repair or restoration) can be compensated without their execution. A depreciation cannot be claimed in such a case.
Total loss	The Insurer reimburses the compensation value for the insured object affected by the loss, up to the agreed sum insured for the object, plus any increase in value since submission of the last object list/individual listing, if agreed, but not exceeding the such amount agreed for provisional insurance.

	In the case of lump-sum insured items, the Insurer shall pay the Fair Market value immediately prior to the occurrence of the claim, but no more than the agreed sum insured. With the compensation in full, the title of property in respect of the insured item will be transferred to the Insurer.
Pairs and set clause	If an insured object consists of pairs or multi-part sets, the Insurer will pay either □ the agreed sum insured for the pair or multi-part set, or □ the compensation value of a comparable object to complete the pair or aggregate - where the higher value of a pair or set is considered -, or, □ if it is not possible to procure a suitable addition to the pair or the set of assets, only the depreciation. In any case the maximum compensation will be the agreed sum insured of the pair or multipart set as per list of objects. With the compensation in full for a pair or set, the title of property in respect of the insured items will be transferred to the Insurer.
Recourse	Recourse revenues received by the Insured from third parties shall be deducted from the Insurer's indemnity.

The Insurer shall in no case compensate more than the agreed insured sum and shall only be liable up to the agreed policy maximum/maximum of compensation, unless otherwise agreed.

If damaged objects have been completely repaired, they will continue to be insured without additional premium.

If a depreciation was paid for a damaged object: A new agreed value is determined, which is based on the agreed value before the damage minus the depreciation provided by the Insurer.

3. Loss Buyback clause/Museum Clause

The Insured is obliged to notify the Insurer in writing without delay of the recovery of lost items. If he has regained possession of a lost item, he can choose either to make it available to the Insurer or to repay the compensation received, including any payment for a depreciation, within 30 (thirty) days.

The Insurer shall, after the recovery of indemnified objects, allow the Insured to repurchase the recovered and indemnified objects for the amount paid as indemnification, plus the cost of recovery. The Insured must inform the Insurer in writing of its intention within sixty (60) days of receipt by the Insurer.

The Insurer confirms the inalienability of insured objects belonging to state museum collections: Independent of the nature and total amount of the loss, the works of art pertaining to museum collections shall remain property of the owning museum (as Lender or Borrower). In case of a total loss the residual value of the work shall be deducted from the total compensation. The indemnity may not, in any case, exceed the insured value agreed between the parties (Museum Clause).

4. Recourse

The claim of the Insured against the third party liable for the damage shall devolve by operation of law upon the Insurer to the amount of the indemnity paid, on the day of the payment of the indemnity by the Insurer. If the Insurer has covered only a part of the damage, the Insured shall have with respect to the remaining part the priority of satisfaction before the claim of the Insurer. Rights against third parties who may be held liable for the loss must be safeguarded. The Insured shall not be liable for any act or omission which does affect the rights of recourse if liability was not possible or reasonable under the given circumstances.

5. Claims payment

The claim under the insurance contract shall become due upon the expiration of 30 days from the date on which the Insurer was informed about the accident. Should the explanation of the facts necessary to establishing the liability of the Insurer or the amount of the performance prove impossible within the above period, the performance shall be made within 14 days from the day on which the explanation of these facts was possible, had due diligence been applied. However, the insurer shall make the indisputable part of the performance within the time limit of 30 days from the date on which the Insurer was informed about the accident.

6. Statute of limitations

Statutory limitation periods apply to claims against Insurer.

7. Breach of duties after a claim

If the Insured intentionally or due to gross negligence breaches its duties regarding notification to the Insurer about an accident within a specified period the compensation may be reduced if the breach contributed to an increase in damage or made it impossible for the insurer to determine the facts and consequences of the accident

Choose a transportation provider that specializes (or a specialized division of a transport company) in moving works of fine art or cultural property. The client can ask for references from museums, curators, fine art houses and other reputable sources that can vouch for the company's expertise.

A means of transport used to transport art and collection objects should meet museum standards. The limits per means of transport are defined in the Written Conditions. These must be respected and complied with.

A special truck for the transport of art and collection objects

- must not have any technical and/or structural damage
- must be a closed box body (with the exception of oversized works, which must be transported on flatbed bodies with tarpaulins and cannot be stowed in a closed box);
- must be clean, dry and suitable for transporting the work of art in question;
- must have a special air suspension
- must have an air-conditioned cargo space;
- must have a lift gate of appropriate size and load capacity for the particular objects;
- should have a (certified) security alarm.

Additional security measures on/in the special truck

- an adequate type and number of load securing and restraining devices to prevent shifting of goods during transport; • appropriate padding and/or other precautions to protect items from damage;
- locks and/or tamper-resistant security seals on all cargo doors.

Organizational measures to be taken by transporters/shippers with proven special experience in the transportation of art and cultural property

- the special truck should preferably be loaded exclusively with objects belonging to the Insured
- a team of two drivers who are also experienced art handlers and are equipped with all the necessary tools/with all the necessary equipment (e.g. padded transport carts, ladders, gloves, etc.) to transport the art and collection objects safely "from nail to nail, or location to location" (for trucks only);
- drivers should be equipped with cell phones or other real-time communication devices. Depending on the value of the objects being transported, the length of the actual transit and transportation route, it may be advisable to hire a security escort ("security escort") to follow the truck(s). This may be an employee of the freight forwarder, an employee of an external guard/security service or another professional (for trucks only);
- the special truck and connecting transportation (e.g., aircraft) should be routed door-to-door as efficiently and safely as possible, allowing only absolutely necessary downtime/transfers along the route.
- the destination should be checked in advance, if possible, and the safest way and route determined to get the items to their final location in the building. You can plan whether special equipment (e.g. forklifts) or delivery zones (ramps, elevators, etc.) are needed.

Individual pieces should be carefully inventoried and inspected prior to transport.

Works of art or cultural property should be packed by trained personnel according to museum standards, both inside and out, to adequately protect the contents. Note that some packing materials may release emissions that could adversely affect other packing materials as well as the objects. Bubble wrap is not suitable as a packing material for long-term storage, as this cushioning material can damage the object through pressure/adhesive points. The packing materials to be used should be selected according to the type of object, dimensions, weight, condition, value and the mode of transportation. The packaging should also have all necessary transportation/handling markings (alignment arrows, center of gravity, lifting points, front of a painting/object, "fragile" markings, etc.) and the object should be transported and securely placed/aligned in the transportation vehicle according to the markings.

Special "handling instructions" should be communicated to the transporters, art handlers, and/or technical staff for handling/handling of individual pieces in a timely manner as precisely as possible as well as accurately in writing and preferably with visual instructions.

Upon arrival, transported items should be carefully unpacked, inventoried, and individual parts inspected for loss or damage. Before and after each packing and/or unpacking step, a meaningful condition report should be prepared for each insured object in accordance with national or international standards, noting the condition of each work and documenting it with high-resolution photographs.

Agreed Value

If the contractual parties have determined the insurance value by special agreement (agreed value), the agreed value shall also be considered the compensation value.

Art Handling

Borrower

Party that receives a loan from a third party.

Theft by unlocking with the correct keys or codes is equivalent to burglary, provided the perpetrator has obtained these by burglary or robbery. Damage caused by persons in the service of the Insured is not insured, provided that their official position allowed them access to the insured premises.

A volcanic eruption is defined as the sudden release of pressure through a fissure which opens in the earth's surface, accompanied by an outpouring of lava, billowing ash and other material or gases released during the eruption.

Tsunami is seismic waves caused by seaquakes, underwater volcanic eruptions or landslides.

Unless the laws of the respective countries state otherwise, consequential loss and/or damage following e.g. fire and/or explosion for which there is an adequate causal connection with the earthquake, volcanic eruption and/or Tsunami are covered only up to the annual aggregate limits agreed in the policy for earthquakes, tsunamis and volcanic eruptions.

In the case of new employment, it is recommended to check credibility of the candidate (for instance asking for references from previous employers or requesting proof of National Criminal Record <KRK>) and an extract from the debt enforcement register be obtained or requested.

Event; also loss; loss event

Losses arising from one and the same cause and occurring within 72 hours of each another in the same geographical context constitute a single loss event for the purposes of this policy. All loss events which begin during the term of this policy are insured, unless excluded. That affects, in particular, all kinds of losses arising from natural perils upon which humans have no influence and they include the following loss events: Natural Hazards, earthquake, volcanic eruptions, Tsunami.

Maximum sum insured/limit

Maximum sums insured/sublimits are compensation limits within the agreed sums insured and/or the policy maximum.
