Companies and organizations recognize the need to be a part of a global marketplace, but while employees conducting business outside their own countries may expect to encounter language barriers, different customs, and diverse negotiating styles, they cannot predict or expect political upheaval, abduction, and extortion. The goal of our entire program is the safe return of a hostage or the resolution of a crisis – a goal from which we do not deviate. Professional assistance before, during, and after a kidnapping or extortion threat is a vital element of risk management. Kidnap, Ransom & Extortion insurance is one in a suite of seven insurance coverage parts under The ForeFront Portfolio policy, providing privately owned companies, not-for-profit organizations, and healthcare organizations, and their families, protection worldwide.
