

Redundancy Cover

What is Redundancy Cover?

Insurance that pays a monthly amount for up to 6 months if you are made involuntarily redundant.

Why do you need Redundancy Cover?

You may need a back-up plan to help you pay for your living expenses if you're made involuntarily redundant, leaving you free to focus on your next career step.

Redundancy Cover can only be chosen with Income Cover and/or Mortgage Repayment Cover.

Redundancy Cover provides you with a monthly sum insured amount that is agreed on at commencement of the cover and is paid at the end of the waiting period if you are made redundant. Some examples of how this money can help are paying for:

- › day-to-day expenses (eg power, phone, food etc.)
- › mortgage or rent payments, or
- › costs associated with looking for new employment.

Please refer to the terms and conditions of the cover for full requirements and criteria.

What's not covered?

- › if redundancy was within the first 180 days of employment
- › if you knew you would be made redundant or might be made redundant when this cover started
- › if redundancy was because your fixed-term employment contract expired or your employer didn't renew it
- › if you were self-employed
- › if you voluntarily resigned, took redundancy or retired
- › if you or your relative controls the employer in any way, for example by being a director, shareholder or owner
- › if redundancy was from seasonal, temporary or relief work
- › if you were involved in a strike or labour dispute that caused or resulted in the redundancy.

If you're still not sure, ask yourself.

Would I have enough savings to get by if I was made redundant?

If 'no', then now is a good time to talk to your Financial Adviser.
